Child Killed While Playing With Friends

Factoryville — Tragedy interrupted three children at play here when one of them was injured fatally by a car at 4:15 p.m. yesterday.

Byron Shaller, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Shaller, of Factoryville, formerly of Monroe county, was playing "horse" with two playmates on a side street, Tunkhannock State police said.

The boy, with rope "reins" tied about him, was running along the street with his two "riders" hanging onto the ropes from behind, police said.

As the trio approached Route 11 intersection, the two boys in the rear stopped. The Shaller child darted on across the highway.

At the same moment, police said, a car driven by Stanley Ginter, 57, of Dupont, was rounding the curve leading to the intersection.

Ginter told police he was unable to avoid the boy.

Police said Byron Shaller's two playmates have not yet been identified. Passersby said the two children ran after their friend was struck by Ginter's car.

The injured boy was taken to Scranton State hospital by ambulance called from Clark Summit. He died shortly after arrival. Police said he suffered a broken right leg and arm, possible skull fracture and severe internal injuries.

Police said a mandatory charge of involuntary manslaughter has been filed against Ginter, who was alone in the car. He was given preliminary hearing by Justice of the Peace Francis Allen, and freed on his own recognizance.

In addition to his parents, Chester and Dorothy R. Shaller, Byron is survived by a brother, Thomas, at home. Mr. Shaller had been a resident of Mountainhome for many years.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Frey funeral home, South Sterling. Rev. Harold MacMurray, Mountainhome Methodist church, will officiate.

Interment will be made in Mountainhome Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. today.

Free Access To Facts Demanded From Government

Evanston, Ill. (AP) — More than 40 news executives at a forum on freedom of the press yesterday declared the American people should "demand of their public officials the right of free access to the facts about their government."

In a declaration drawn up after an all day discussion at Northwestern University, the editors declared:

"That the American people are in danger of losing their rights to freedom of information by default unless they demand of their public officials the right of free access to the facts about their government. This is the right of the people which cannot be taken for granted, but must be fought for every day."

The declaration criticized what it termed the "dangers" of an executive order issued last week by President Truman. His executive order extended tight security regulations on information dispensed by civilian as well as military agencies.

Deputy Coroner Resigns Post

Philadelphia, (AP) — A deputy coroner who handed four of the five cases concerning bodies left in a Philadelphia undertaking parlor has resigned his post.

In announcing he was quitting, Deputy Coroner Charles Kennedy told Coroner Joseph Ominsky Saturday that he had done nothing wrong. He asserted he was quitting to reduce further criticism of the coroner's office.

The resignation was accepted, effective immediately. But Ominsky says he will continue his own probe into Kennedy's role in the case of the long delayed burials. The bodies were found in the undertaking establishment headed by William H. Beard.

Fails To Meet Goals

Washington (AP) — Europe is failing to meet military production goals, Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson said last night, and "must divert substantially more" of its resources to defense.

COUPE RESITS ON Route 611, three miles north of Stroudsburg last night after bus struck it broadside. Four Stroudsburg teen-agers injured in coupe were on their way to Stroud Roller Rink. Accident occurred about 10 p. m. as their car started to make the turn into the rink driveway, turned into path of the bus. (Daily Record Photo)

Four Young People Suffer Injuries When Bus Crushes Convertible Coupe Making Left Turn

Four young skating enthusiasts were injured last night when a loaded north-bound bus struck their convertible coupe broadside on Route 611 in front of the entrance to the Stroud Roller Rink.

Most seriously injured were Norma Schroeder, 18, of 1144 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, with cuts, bruises, shock and possible fracture of the thigh bone; and Douglas Wallace, 18, of 608 Bryant St., Stroudsburg, with shock, cuts and possible fractures of the ribs and back.

They were admitted to Monroe County General hospital.

Released from the hospital after treatment for bruises, cuts and shock were Martha Miller and Richard Kearn, also listed as Stroudsburg residents by hospital authorities.

The accident occurred about 10 p. m. The coupe was moving north from Stroudsburg. Behind it was a Martz bus filled with baseball fans on their way home to Scranton and Wilkes-Barre from New York. The driver was Jake Wismer, Wilkes-Barre.

A witness said the coupe was on the extreme right of the highway. The bus apparently pulled toward the center to pass.

As it began to move abreast the coupe swung left to make the turn into the roller rink. It was struck in the side by the front of the bus.

An ambulance was called by Mrs. Claude Cummins, cashier at the rink. Skaters were barred from leaving until the injured were removed, but a crowd of more than 100 gathered shortly after the crash.

The bus was damaged only slightly. It continued on with its passengers. The car was towed to a Stroudsburg garage.

Arms Output Hits Stride

Washington (AP) — Defense Mobilizer Charles F. Wilson reported last night that volume production under the $100,000,000,000 defense program is beginning to hit full stride.

Wilson filed a report with President Truman saying that deliveries of military goods to the armed forces, however, have aggregated only $14,000,000,000 worth since the Korean war started.

At the same time he said deliveries reached about $5,000,000,000 in the July-September period, or four times the rate of deliveries a year ago. He pledged this would be doubled to $10,000,000,000 or $11,000,000,000 a quarter a year from now.

The comprehensive survey of the status of the gigantic defense program as of the end of this month dealt with the problems, such as shortages, and "bottlenecks" plaguing the attainment of the nation's production goals.

Over-all, Wilson told a news conference, "Industry generally and practically all across-the-board is doing a fine job and the production picture, I think, is very promising on the whole."

Ship Strike Averted

San Francisco (AP) — A west coast midnight maritime tieup was averted when shipowners and the AFL Masters Mates and Pilots union reached a last minute tentative agreement last night on a new wage contract.

Production Up

Cleveland (AP) — The nation's steel industry roared into the final quarter at 101.5 per cent of capacity, still far from able to keep abreast of demands for its product, Steel magazine reported yesterday.

Price Reduced

Chicago (AP) — Armour laboratories yesterday announced it is reducing the price of acthar, its brand of ACTH, an average of 25 per cent and has developed a long acting form of the drug known as acthar gel.

Giants Climax Surge To Top With 3-2 Win

Boston (AP) — The amazing New York Giants won their "big" game yesterday but so did the Brooklyn Dodgers and the two open a best two-of-three playoff in Ebbets field today.

The winner of that playoff will meet the New York Yankees in the 1951 World Series.

The Giants climaxed their surge to the National league title yesterday by squeezing out a heart-throbbing, pulse-pounding 3-2 victory over Boston. Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia, 9 to 8, at Shibe Park in 14 innings.

That made the standings a flat-footed tie—both the Giants and Dodgers having 96 victories and 55 defeats.

The Giants' surge, if they win in the playoff, will become the greatest in the 76 years of the National league. Greater even than the miracle finish of the Boston Braves in 1914.

In last place on May 15 and 13½ games behind the Dodgers as late as August 11, the Giants then started on a seven-week rampage that literally tore the league apart. They captured their last seven in a row, ran up 12 triumphs in their last 13 starts and won 37 of their last 44.

Jansen held the Braves in thorough check yesterday except for two innings—the first and last. In the nerve-racking ninth Boston club hit him for three of its five hits, scored once and had the potential of tying and winning runs on the bases with the dangerous Willard Marshall at bat.

A lead-off double by Bob Addis, his second of the game, had ignited the rally. Speedy Sam Jethroe then dribbled a roller to the right of the mound. Eddie Stanky and Whitey Lockman both went for it. Lockman grabbed it, but the fleet-footed Jethroe beat the throw to first for an infield single. Addis moved to third on the play.

Earl Torgeson bounced to shortstop Alvin Dark whose throw to Stanky forced Jethroe at second, but Addis scored to cut New York's lead to 3-2. Jansen got Sid Gordon to slap a "double play" grounder, to shortstop. Dark whipped to Stanky forcing Torgeson, but the latter's hurried throw to first was wild and Gordon was safe.

Bishop Replies To President's Unity Statement

Washington, (AP) — In an obvious answer to President Truman, Right Rev. Angus Dun, Episcopal Bishop of Washington, said yesterday the nature of God is such that he cannot be used for political purposes.

In addressing a religious group Friday night, Mr. Truman told church leaders he had made futile attempt to get churchmen of all faiths to lay aside "petty and insignificant" differences to present a united front against Russia.

Bishop Dun, addressing many of the same group of church leaders who heard Mr. Truman, did not mention the President by name but said:

"On the surface there is considerable appeal in the idea that the churches might be mobilized to strengthen the weak political sinews of the traditionally Christian West."

"But you who come here in the spirit of pilgrimage," he said to members of the Washington Pilgrimage of American Churchmen, "surely know that Christian faith and devotion cannot be financed from outside, nor at bottom can Christian faith and devotion be mobilized by political leadership for political ends, however good."

Stengel Nominates Reynolds To Hurl First Game Of Series At Yankee Stadium Thursday

New York, (AP) — The World Series will start Thursday at the Yankee stadium regardless of whether the National League playoff goes two or three games, Commissioner Ford Frick of baseball announced last night.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants open a best of three playoff series at Ebbets field today for the National League flag. The second game and the third, if necessary, will be played at the Polo grounds.

The Dodgers will rely on the pitching arm of Ralph Branca in today's game, while New York Manager Leo Durocher is expected to counter with Jim Hearn.

"If the playoff is decided in two games the National League winner will have a day of rest," said Frick. "If it takes three games then we will start the World Series on Thursday without giving the playoff winner a layoff."

Allie Reynolds, who pitched two no-hit games during the season, will pitch for the New York Yankees in the opening game of the series, Manager Sasey Stengel announced.

Bradley Hopes Armistice Can Be Achieved

Tokyo, Monday (AP) — Gen. Omar Bradley, preparing for a flying visit to Korea, expressed hope yesterday that an armistice still could be achieved, but conceded that it depended on the Reds.

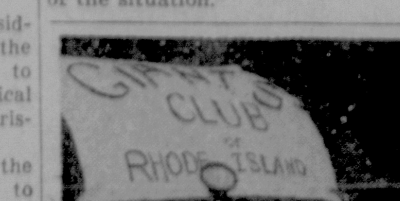

The Communists remained coldly silent on the Allied proposal of last Thursday to move the truce talks from Red-held Kaesong to Non-man's land, near the village of Songhyon six miles to the southeast.

Whether negotiations will end if the Reds reject that proposal "Will depend on the nature of their answer," Bradley said.

The chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, here for conferences with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, made his remarks at a news conference. The Reds suspended the truce talks August 23, charging Allied violation of the Kaesong neutral zone.

"No one can foresee if they (the armistice talks) will be successful or unsuccessful," Bradley said. "I don't think anyone had expected quick results."

Bradley said he was going to Korea for an on-the-spot "survey of the situation."

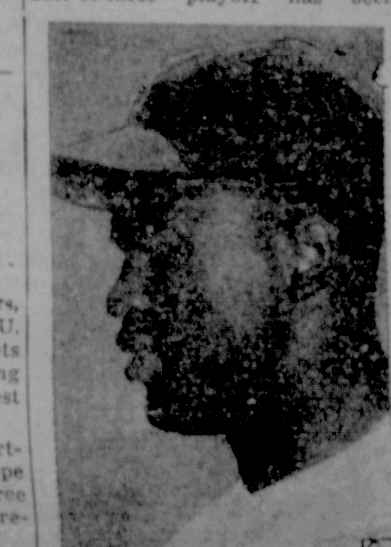

MAKING HIMSELF COMFORTABLE outside the Polo Grounds, New York, is Lester Rand, 28, of Providence, R. I. He's parked near the bleacher gates and hopes to be the first fan to buy World Series tickets—if his favorites, the New York Giants, cop the National League pennant. A cigar and comic books help him to pass the time.

Brooks Edge Phillies In 14 Innings

Philadelphia (AP) — Jackie Robinson saved a game and the pennant for the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday when he blasted a mighty home run in the 14th inning to give resurgent Brooklyn a 9 to 8 triumph over the Phillies.

As a result of Jackie's blow and his game-saving catch two innings earlier, the Dodgers finished the regular season in a tie with the New York Giants. They will meet in a three-game playoff, starting in Brooklyn today.

This marks the second time in National League history that a best-of-three playoff has been needed to decide the championship. In 1946, the Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals ended in a deadlock and the Cardinals won the playoff in two games. The only other time a post-season decision was needed in the National League was in 1908, the playoff of a regular season game after the celebrated Fred Merkle incident.

It was a dramatic climax to a game which saw the Dodgers come from far behind to tie the count at 8-8 in the eighth inning—after the Giants already had beaten Boston to clinch a tie for the flag.

It was played, too, in a World Series atmosphere, a crowd of 31,755, the largest to see a single game in Shibe Park this season, jammed the park and a big delegation of Dodger fans paraded noisily around the floodlighted field after the final out was made in the deepening dusk.

Manager "Chuck" Dressen named Ralph Branca, who pitched an inning and one third in relief yesterday, as his starting pitcher for today's first playoff game.

Two were out in the 14th and it looked as if the Sunday curfew might halt the game without a decision when Robinson caught hold of one of Robin Roberts' pitches and drove it deep into the upper tier of the stands behind left field.

Harriman To Join NATO Economic Talks In Paris

Washington (AP) — Presidential Assistant W. Averell Harriman will fly to Paris this week with instructions to join top level delegates of other North Atlantic treaty countries in putting military requirements for Western Europe through an economy wringer.

Administration officials believe these listed requirements — for guns, tanks, planes and all the other materials of modern war — will be found to be higher than the absolute minimum necessary for European defense and that the excess can be squeezed out without damaging basic defense plans.

Despite the wringer operation, however, officials are also convinced that President Truman will have to ask Congress early next year for a substantially larger foreign aid appropriation than the approximately $7,500,000,000 expected to get congressional approval this year.

Interment will be made in Prospect cemetery, East Stroudsburg.

Some Persons Get Two Types Of Assistance

Four per cent of those receiving Federal old-age social security pensions here and elsewhere throughout the State also receive old-age assistance grants from the State.

Mrs. Eleanor G. Evans, Department of Public Assistance Secretary, explained that this group of 11,000 receive small pensions and do not have savings or other income to enable them to support themselves without resort to public assistance.

Average old-age social security pension for this group is $27 per month. The average monthly old-age assistance grant to supplement these small pensions is $25.

However, studies indicate that if they were not for the Social Security retirement program, the State's old age assistance rolls would be increased by approximately 20 per cent.

Governors State Election Issue

Gatlinburg, Tenn., Pa.—Republican governors arriving here for the 43rd annual governors conference said yesterday morality in government will be the major issue in next year's presidential election.

"We've had gangsterism in Kansas City transferred to Washington," Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska told a news conference. "It is imperative that the Democratic administration be eliminated and a Republican administration be elected."

Joining him in naming morality as the theme were Governors Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, Edward F. Arn of Kansas, Walter J. Kohler Jr. of Wisconsin and J. Bracken Lee of Utah.

Lee said "honesty and integrity in government" will be the big issue.

Line Material Employees Consider Setting Up Charity Fund

Signing-Up Scheduled For Today

A unique plan, designed to set up their own charity fund in support of Community Chest and other agencies conducting their own fund campaigns, will be set in motion among employees of Line Material Co. today.

Already outlined to every employee, the plan will get down to the 'signing-up' stage today. Action is timely since the firm and its employees have already been contacted preliminarily by Ed Lawson's industrial division of Community Chest.

Line Material employees and the firm have an exceptional record for giving to all agencies. Their Community Chest gifts, year after year, have been in top bracket rating for participation and per capita giving.

Today's signing-up process will be the first step of the new plan and will give chest officials some idea of how Line Material will go this year. Several local firms have already set a hot pace with 100 percent participating or better than $5 per capita giving, or both.

Known as the "Good Neighbor day" plan, the proposal briefly, involves these arrangements:

The company will provide four hours of work for each employee who desires to participate on Saturday morning, October 6 from 8 a. m. to noon.

All of the pay for these four hours — at time and one-half — will be turned over to the "Line Material Charity fund."

Exempt employees — those who do not receive overtime pay — are being asked to contribute one full day's pay in addition to working four hours overtime. This money will also be turned over to the fund.

The Line Material Co. is splitting among the various charities — including Community Chest — one day's profits of the company which will be donated in the company's name.

However, the "Line Material Charity fund" will be a fund controlled by the employees as to its collection. A committee of workers will direct distribution.

Everyone who participates in the fund will receive a membership card which will state that any charitable contributions to be made by the member will be made by the fund. Card will be used to show all solicitors.

All organizations requesting money will do so through the employees' committee. This group will decide what charitable organizations will participate and how much they will get from the fund. The committee will reflect the wishes of the employees.

Committee consists of five members from the shop, two from office, one from exempt employees and one from personnel staff. These members are Edwin Butts, Chester Gross, Alex Mundie, Gerald Lee, George Gordon, Bill Hilyard, Carroll Doll, Art Gordon and Dick Altemose.

Money donated by the committee from the fund will be given in the name of the employees and each member will get the stickers, buttons, etc. given to contributors by the benefiting agency.

Senator Seeks Spending Cuts

Washington (AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said yesterday he will seek cuts in military spending now that the Senate has declined to make more of a boost in the tax increase bill.

At the same time Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) announced he will propose creation of a special Senate-House committee to keep close check on rearmament expenditures. He said the appropriations have become too big for the regular committees to handle adequately.

O'Mahoney is chairman of the Senate-House conference on the huge military funds bill for the current fiscal year. The conference to adjust differences in the bills passed by the two branches is to start today.

The Wyoming senator said he is willing to have reductions made even in the $5,000,000,000 fund for expanded air power and "fantastic new weapons" which he sponsored as an addition to the armed services money bill.

Since the senate has refused to increase the revenue in the tax bill beyond $5,450,000,000 in new revenue, O'Mahoney said in a statement, "It is apparent that a substantial reduction of expenditures must be made if we are to approximate balancing the budget."

BRUNETTE divorcee Mrs. Margaret Whalen, 25, leaves Mid-Manhattan Court, New York, following hearing for her amorous and global suit, F. Erskine Woodward, 33. The latter was booked and later jailed on a disorderly conduct charge after Mrs. Whalen testified that he had followed her all the way from Honolulu. In court, he said his actions may have been "too impetuous."

Four Killed, Three Injured

Somerville, N. J. (AP) — Four men died and two women and a four-year-old girl were critically injured last night in a head-on collision on Route 29 between here and Bound Brook.

State police said a car driven by Frank Karpis, 34, Scranton, Pa., pulled into the center passing lane of the three-lane highway and rammed into a car driven by John Kelemonick, Bethlehem, Pa.

Frank Karpis and Kelemonick were killed instantly. Also dead were Joseph Iulivo, 53, Bethlehem, riding with Kelemonick, and Michael Karpis, 33, Newark.

Two women and a child in the Karpis car were badly injured and brought unconscious to Somerset hospital here. They were Mary Karpis, 29, Newark; Mary Fedin Karpis, her sister-in-law, Scranton; and Mary Ann Karpis, 4, Newark.

Police said both cars were complete wrecks and that some of the passengers were thrown out on the road.

Chest Drive Launched By Mr. Truman

Washington (AP)—President Truman opened the annual Community Chest drive last night with an appeal for generous contributions and a reminder that "neighbors should always help each other."

Mr. Truman said in a speech for a nationwide broadcast from the White House that the drive this year in 1,500 communities will be a double job because the United Defense fund is tied in with the chest campaign.

Through the USO and other agencies," he said, "this fund will provide special help and services for the men and women in our armed forces, for their families, and for our defense workers."

"This defense job is vital and deserves support from all of us. But at the same time, the Community Chest must keep right on with its regular job in our home towns—helping families in trouble, caring for homeless or neglected children, nursing the sick, and providing guidance and recreation for young people."

Community Chest officials say their best estimate of the combined total to be raised by individual chests this year is $250,000,000 of which $16,500,000 would go to the USO—United Service organizations—and Defense fund.

This would be the highest on record, exceeding the previous peak of $221,000,000 raised during an annual drive in World War Two.

Legion Prepares For Convention

Miami, Fla. (AP)—The greatest voting strength at the 33rd annual convention of the American Legion here October 15-18 belongs to Pennsylvania. Joe H. Adams, national vice commander, said yesterday that Pennsylvania will have 270 delegates on the basis of membership strength.

Seventh Bank Embezzlement Case In Pittsburgh Region Involves Theft Of $48,000

Indiana, Pa. (AP)—The seventh bank embezzlement scandal in the western Pennsylvania-West Virginia area within a year broke with thunderclap suddenness in this quiet rural community, leaving residents unbelieving and shocked yesterday.

The FBI in nearby Pittsburgh disclosed the arrest of 62-year-old assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Indiana Saturday night.

FBI Agent Fred Hallford said Samuel Paul Lewis, veteran bank employee, admitted in a signed statement that he took $48,479.39 since October of 1947. Lewis' statement contended he repaid the money he took. But bank examiners told the FBI there still is a $10,000 shortage.

Lewis, charged specifically with violating the Federal Reserve Act by illegally taking $6,500 from an insurance firm's account, is in jail in Pittsburgh. He couldn't raise a $15,000 bond when arraigned before a U.S. commissioner.

The listed shortage raises to $288,499 the total amount which the FBI says has been embezzled in the past 12 months from seven banks in the western Pennsylvania and West Virginia area covered by the Pittsburgh office of the FBI.

FBI Agent Hallford said Lewis is treasurer of several organizations and admitted he illegally withdrew funds from their accounts. Lewis claims the money was paid back. The FBI said he used the money for his own undisclosed purposes.

An official of the Indiana Volunteer Firemen's association, in which Lewis holds office as treasurer, declared:

"I'd have bet my bottom dollar on Paul. Short of his own confession, I would be very loathe to believe this."

A prominent resident said: "I don't believe it. Paul Lewis is an honest man. I'm willing to put up bond for him."

A fellow member of the First Presbyterian church described delegates at large, one delegate for each 1,000 members, and members of the national executive committee.

Furloughs End For Half Of 28th Division

Furloughs ended yesterday for one-half of Pennsylvania's 28th Division, and start today for the other half.

The furloughs, for a period of 15 days, were authorized for the men of the division—including many from Monroe county—before the unit is sent to Europe as part of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's defense army.

Gen. Daniel B. Strickler previously said the division would leave probably around the end of November.

The troops comprised the Pennsylvania National Guard before being called into Federal service a year ago. They have been in training at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

Lackawanna Centennial

1851-1951

Back in 1851, the arrival of the Spitfire was an exciting event in the lives of the people who lived along the route of the Lackawanna.

Phoebe Snow rubbed her eyes!

BACK around 1900, when the Lackawanna Railroad was winding up its first half-century, a lovely character called "Phoebe Snow" made her bow upon the scene of American folklore. In her immaculate white gown and adorned by a dainty corsage of violets, she symbolized the cleanliness of passenger travel on the Lackawanna—"the Road of Anthracite."

Two years ago, the Lackawanna proudly put into service between New York and Buffalo, its new deluxe Diesel-powered streamliner—the PHOEBE SNOW. Aboard, on its inaugural trip, was the living lady of the part...Phoebe Snow, herself! Her eyes popped with delight as she went from one end of the train to the other. Here, indeed, was the last word in modern travel luxury.

It's a far cry from the days of Lackawanna's first little steam engine, the Spitfire, with its old wooden bench coaches, to the comforts and conveniences of the PHOEBE SNOW. And it's a far cry, too, from the old-fashioned methods of handling freight to the fast and dependable service which the Lackawanna provides for today's shippers.

We, the men and women of the Lackawanna Railroad, look back with a sense of pride to the accomplishments of the past. Now, as our railroad enters its second century, we pledge ourselves to provide even better transportation service in the years to come.

Doctors Perk Up

Doctors used to hold tame conventions. They read long papers that were weighed down with $4 words and the public stuffed its ears with cotton.

But times have changed—at least in Pennsylvania. At the State Medical Society convention in Pittsburgh recently, the physicians and surgeons issued some blasts that would have done credit to a political meeting.

One fine thing, the delegates didn't just beef and let it go at that. They came up with solutions.

For instance, they opposed grabbing money from the U. S. Treasury for medical schools. Then, they voted to assess each member of the State Society for the financial relief of medical schools.

Already, the doctors have pledged $250,000 for the purpose and fully expect the Society's 10,400 members to give at least $25 each. We wish they also would have done something about qualified students who can't get into the crowded schools.

The Society's new president, Dr. Louis W. Jones of Wilkes-Barre talked tough to his colleagues who refuse to make calls at night and on Thursdays, Sundays and holidays.

He correctly pointed out that physicians can't go on a 40-hour week. They are different by the very nature of the job they chose as their life work. People do get sick on Thursdays, Sundays, holidays and during the night.

Dr. Jones also asked his audience to kick out the "un-moral politicians" in Washington and Harrisburg.

Unfortunately, it will take more than the doctors to perform the operation. But most of us will be happy to help them at the bedside.

Our Total Obligation

A Senate Committee, the other day, gave us a reminder of the obligation of the American people—all of us—to unite in moral support of the men in our armed forces.

The Lyndon Johnson Subcommittee on Preparedness revealed its findings on the miserable and posts. It was the committee's second such survey this year.

In general, it found only slight improvement—wide-spread gouging and profiteering still going on, and service dependents living in chicken coops, barns, garages and shacks.

The committee had some wise and timely observations about American soldiers of today, and the way we treat them.

The American soldier, it is noted, is not a mercenary. He is not a professional who makes a career out of killing his fellow men. He is first of all a citizen. And unless he feels the moral backing of his fellow citizens he will lose the will to fight.

Total war involves whole populations—and total obligation. Which is to say, the wholehearted support of the nation's industry, its people and their common, unified will.

"It is especially indicated," says the report, in the people's "willingness to ease the lot of the men who go forth to do battle with the common foe."

Therefore: "Every case of rent-gouging, every instance of an American soldier forced to house his family in a hovel or chicken coop represents a crack in the structure of national unity. Enough cracks could topple the whole structure. . . . A nation unable to unite behind its fighting men . . . is doomed."

The problem of housing—as well as the problem of providing needed blood for our armed forces—will finally be solved only by the sacrifice and devotion of individual Americans, and their unanimous desire to contribute to the morale and peace of mind of our men in uniform.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A tourist bought a bolt of beautiful British cloth in the Bahamas and presented it to his Fifth Avenue tailor, asking, "Is there enough material here for you to make me a suit?" "No," said the tailor. The disappointed tourist headed for home, and passed a tiny sidestreet tailoring shop en route. "No harm to try again," he thought, and sure enough, the second tailor was confident he could make him a very adequate suit from the material available.

He was true to his word, and a fortnight later turned out a garment that fitted the tourist like a glove. Just as the latter was reaching for his pocket book, however, the tailor's five-year-old son ran into the shop, garbed in a suit so obviously cut from the tourist's own material, the tailor didn't even attempt to alibi. "Yes, I made a suit for my boy from the goods left over," he said placatingly. "There wasn't enough to be of any use to you anyhow!" At that moment the tourist bethought himself of Tailor Number One. Angriest charging into that worthy's establishment he cried, "Remember telling me I didn't have enough material for a suit? A competitor down the block not only made me a very fine one, but had enough left over to make a suit for his five-year-old son!" "So what?" scoffed Tailor Number One. "My son is eighteen!"

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood — Barbara "Bobbie" McLean owns a little gold medal engraved, "In Bobbie I trust—From Joe."

It's topnotch Director Joseph Mankiewicz' tribute to her editing of "All About Eve," 1950 Oscar winner. The film won writer-director awards for Joe and an editing nomination for Bobbie—her seventh.

She received an Oscar for "Wilson," whose star, Alexander Knox sent her a medal that says: "You cut a President and got away with it."

And Darryl Zanuck sent her a leather-bound copy of the film's script inscribed: "To the best film editor in the whole world."

Hollywood has about 260 film editors, informally known as cutters, of whom eight or 10 are women. To male astonishment that a mere woman can snip perhaps 200,000 feet of exposed film into a 10,000-foot feature, Bobbie replies mildly: "There are a lot of women authors—very good ones."

Petite, pretty, and blue-eyed, Bobbie grew up in the business. Her father had charge of a film laboratory at Fort Lee, N. J., when movies were made there. She cut and patched film during school vacations and once played a bit part in a Norma Shearer film.

In Hollywood she was an assistant cutter on several Mary Pickford pictures. Since 1933 she has edited some of Zanuck's biggest productions, including the current "David and Bathsheba."

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

The Return of Henry Wallace. Out of the quiet of his chicken farm, Henry Wallace has emerged with some more than passingly interesting correspondence. He had, in June and July, 1944, recommended to President Franklin D. Roosevelt what appears to be an anti-Chinese Communist policy.

The correspondence arose out of a controversy between Joseph Alsop, columnist, and the McCarran committee on the nature of the activities and attitudes of Owen Lattimore and John Carter Vincent, who accompanied Wallace on his trip to China. Louis Budenz had testified that the American politburo were pleased that Lattimore and Vincent went along, and therefore Wallace would be steered properly.

Alsop went to the defense of Vincent, offering as evidence that Vincent participated in and concurred with Wallace's anti-Communist report. Prior to that, Vincent had written Alfred Kohlberg that he had had nothing to do with Wallace's report; also Dean Acheson had written Senator Walter George as follows:

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington — Newspaper editors are going to be faced shortly with a serious cut back in the supply of newsprint. They are already paying stiff prices for what they do get and some smaller daily papers are having trouble buying supplies even at top prices.

The National Production Administration, in conjunction with Secretary of State Dean Acheson's global hand holders in the State department, has been mulling over a world allocation of newsprint now for several months. The theory is that to fight Communism everybody in the world needs lots of paper.

Of course, those in the government who have been wet nursing Socialist governments through repeated economic crisis have not been hesitant about promising huge chunks of U. S. newsprint supplies to all comers. One of the Johnny-come-latelies to step into the handout line is India. You'll recall that Prime Minister Nehru, India's Henry Wallace, led the hand that fed him when he thanked us for 2,000,000 tons of wheat by refusing to join anti-Russian countries in signing the Japanese peace treaty.

Nehru is the soulmate of the pro-Soviets in India, and may even be on Stalin's payroll. This possibility of course, is only a common sense supposition based on his actions, so it may be wrong.

The State department thinks Nehru should have large supplies of U. S. manufactured paper so he can print anti-Communist propaganda. To give it to him the State department politburo will have to deprive American publishers of some of their sorely needed newsprint supply. Most of the publishers have the good sense to know that to counter-attack on the propaganda front paper is necessary. But most of them also have the good sense to question India's eagerness for anti-Communist propaganda, even if it gets some of their newsprint.

Right now India is deluged with anti-American propaganda. Books, magazines, newspapers and pamphlets flood the country carrying Indian style curses about the U. S. A. Some of the tripe printed in newspapers that laud Nehru is supplied by the federated press. This is a so-called American news service set up to supply news about organized labor to organized labor newspapers. You can see how and why it drifts far afield, as in this one paragraph from a FP dispatch sent to India from Los Angeles:

"From their earliest years the children of the American working people are acquainted with cruel exploitation, hopeless poverty, sorrow and suffering."

India doesn't have a newsprint allocation plan. It ought to, instead of sitting around with cups in hand waiting for us to set one up and hand over - free, of course—huge chunks of our short newsprint supply.

If Nehru is serious about fighting the Communists — and we ought to be sure before we send him anything — then all he has to do is split up the newsprint on hand so the anti-Communists in India get their share. Right now the Communist publications have cornered most of India's newsprint, choking off the anti-Russian publications or curtailing their activity to a point where it is ineffective.

Since Nehru is a soulmate of State department economic planners who want everything under government control it ought to be easy for him to step in and take over; newsprint supplies in India. Then he could parcel it out — maybe even give the anti-Communists the edge in supply — so at least the propaganda war could be fought on a somewhat equal basis.

We ought to have a house rule

"Mr. Vincent was assigned by the Secretary of State to accompany Mr. Wallace, the vice-president of the United States, on the journey mentioned. Mr. Vincent did not prepare or assist in the preparation of the report and does not know what recommendations it contained. Mr. Vincent had never met Mr. Wallace prior to the trip to China, saw him only a few times on official business after their return, and has had no contact with him since his resignation from the government."

Now, Wallace adds to these contradictory data the factor that there were two documents, one of which Vincent saw; the other, he had not seen. The first was a message dated June 26, 1944, cable two days later from New Delhi; the second was a report which Wallace handed the President on July 10, 1944. Vincent participated in and concurred with the New Delhi message but never saw the July 10 report.

This division of documents, Vincent did not state in his letter to Kohlberg, which is a categorical denial; nor does it appear in Dean Acheson's comment to Senator George, which is equally a categorical denial.

Although the Wallace correspondence may take Joseph Alsop off the hook, it fastens Vincent and Acheson on it more tightly. All these contradictions are less important than the fact that Henry Wallace made a report to President Roosevelt which he regards as anti-Communist and pro-Chiang, although that is a matter of opinion. It is possible to say now, in 1951, that had Roosevelt accepted Wallace's present interpretation of his counsel this country might not today be fighting in Korea. Also, Soviet Russia would be preoccupied with her Manchurian and Mongolian borders and would not have had so free a hand in Europe.

Why then was Wallace's advice ignored? Roosevelt is not available to tell us, but the subject is nevertheless interesting.

Look at the date! Wallace's report was handed to the President on July 10, 1944; Yalta did not occur until February, 1945. It was at Yalta that Roosevelt finally agreed to the steps which have made China a satellite of the Kremlin; yet Wallace had fully warned him of the perils. Wallace in his letter to President Truman says:

"In short, I urged President Roosevelt to help the Generalissimo's government to help itself by bringing back to power the better men in the Chinese Nationalist ranks."

Therefore, it would be sound for the McCarran committee to go more deeply into the question, not that it will lessen the loss of American life in Korea, but because it is necessary to discover the design of intrigue, the procedure by which a President of the United States can be influenced to pursue a policy which in time proves itself to be against the interests of the United States.

We must assume that no president can know everything. He must depend upon experts and advisers. If the Wallace report, like the Wedemeyer report, fell into the hands of such advisers and experts, who counseled Mr. Roosevelt to ignore it? Who were these advisers and experts? What was their motive? Why were they so powerful?

Apart from this, another matter must intrigue most Americans. Subsequently to July 10, 1944, Henry Wallace became associated with the Communists who were using him. Ultimately, he repudiated this relationship which had wrecked his public career. Why was he silent about his anti-Communist views which he now says were in his cable of June 28, 1944 and his report of July 10, 1944 until September 19, 1951 when he wrote President Truman? So much blood has been spilled because Wallace's report was ignored; yet Wallace was silent. Why?

My New York

New York—Things one New Yorker thinks about: I think I am about as hard and polished smooth as any Manhattanite. On occasion I can and do look right through a whining beggar. My enameled surface is deep and unbreakable—and yet when a tiny little "society orchestra" plays Autumn in New York or April in Paris in some dark saloon, I collapse slowly into a chaos of nostalgia and boozey sentiment. . . . I suppose this is something I really should know, but I don't, where'd all the fish go when they tore down the Aquarium, down by the battery in lower Manhattan? . . . I think Alice in Wonderland is the best thing Disney has done in the movies, but since it's such adult fare, it'll probably make the least money. I wonder who started the legend that Alice was a children's story, anyway?

I see Helen Hayes, the great actress whose talents never have affected me greatly, has picked the 10 most memorable stage performances she's seen. Glad to see she has Marion Brando in A Streetcar Named Desire among them, and Shirley Booth in Come Back, Little Sheba.

She includes Barrymore's Hamlet, which I would have given my right arm up to there to have seen. Only saw the great man on the stage once, when he did My Dear Children in the twilight of his career. His fabulous voice never left him.

I sat in the first row, and when somewhere in the miserable little comedy he began the soliloquy To be or not to be, I just closed my eyes and listened. You'd have sworn he was 30, not 60.

Like most men, I never can pick out another man and say, "There's a guy who appeals to women." If I wanted to make a guess, I'd say Jean Gabin, the French actor.

Everybody has his own impression of Brooklyn. Mine is of undertaking parlors and tile-and-terrazzo floors. There are about 18 different sections of Brooklyn—Brownsville, Canarsie, Flatbush, Red Hook, et al—and rarely does somebody living in one section have any idea where a street in another section is situated. As far as I can figure out, all New York press agents live in Brooklyn with their families and never take a girl out unless she has her own apartment in Manhattan.

Life is on an even keel here once again. Miss Mae West, the nonpareil, is back doing Diamond Lil at the Broadway. Surely she must be the world's three funniest women rolled into one. Nicely rolled, too. . . . Everybody yacking these days about how funny Clifton Webb is in the moo' pictures. Well, I'm what Ed Durling calls a real young old-timer. I remember Webb when he was the best dancer on Broadway. Also the best mimic. He was classical in the revue As Thousands Cheer, with Marilyn Miller.

In the government that nobody gets U. S. aid until they get in line against the Communists. Newspaper editors, and the American people in general, are asked to make sacrifices and endure a planned economy, with its attendant controls, so we can help other lands fight the Reds. That's all right if the countries we help are putting their governments and economy on a war footing also and using every weapon at hand — including the supply of newsprint.

Maybe no one in the State department has thought about asking India to impose a few newsprint controls in an effort to throttle the Red publications and encourage the anti-Communist newspapers. Maybe Nehru could be asked to spend a little cash from the Indian government treasury in subsidizing newsprint so anti-Communist papers can afford to be helpful. In case the State department has overlooked this it is hereby offered as a suggestion. The wheat handout backed. Let's get Nehru signed up before we do the same with newsprint.

I guess Society really is dead, at that. On the social pages the other day I saw where Mr. Barrow Polan gave a dinner at the St. Regis Maitland for a number of guests, including Judy Garland. Mr. Polan is none other than the agent for Julie Wilson, who sings at the Maitland. Far as I know, there were no robber barons, millionaires or polo players in his immediate family. And Miss Garland has come along some distance. I should say, to be listed on the society page.

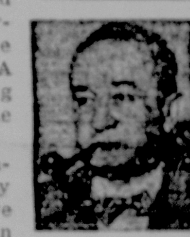

Likely I will live in New York until I die, but there is one counter-attraction that might break the spell some day: a house set right on the edge of the ocean

(even a lighthouse, yet), with no neighbors for at least five miles. I ask you, Mabel, did you ever see anyone so anti-social? . . . This morning I am a little kinder toward television. I made the acquaintance of Oliver J. Dragon.

I must look up Joan Caulfield, who appears to be in town. It was Miss C. who told me years ago, when the movies tapped her, that she was firmly planning on going Hollywood, and not going out there to eat her heart out for NY. She did, too. Married Frank Ross, Jean Arthur's former husband, and now lives the California life to the teeth. Fine woman, though, in spite of this sad gesture.

Brandeis

how to get to be a hundred years old.

Last week I told you about a man who just celebrated his 101st birthday and who attributed his longevity to the fact that he doesn't use sweets, tobacco, coffee and liquor.

So along comes a fellow in Rochester, N. Y., by the name of Edward "Holy Cow" Van Dyne and celebrates his 106th birthday. And what do you think he does?

He smokes six cigars a day, drinks quite a bit of beer and plays a stiff game of cards with his cronies in neighborhood taverns.

He has an I.Q. of 126, which is very high, and was a brewmaster in his younger years. His mother died when he was 108.

The reporters asked him what was his advice for longevity. "Don't worry," was the reply.

Incidentally "Holy Cow" likes his nickname, which, as he says, he got in India when he kicked a holy cow in the back and nearly started a riot.

Also, incidentally, Mr. Van Dyne has varicose ulcers of the legs and receives public welfare.

But, as I said before, his advice is "Don't worry."

Of course, there is nothing new about this advice.

Your doctor has probably told you the same thing mine has told me, and you can even buy that advice for a nickel in every stationery store—printed on nice fancy paper, to be nailed up over your desk.

But nobody has ever told you or me HOW not to worry.

I wish "Holy Cow" would tell us.

If I had ulcers of the leg, or were on public welfare, I'd worry my head off—and probably you would, too.

I have an idea that worry is a sort of natural gift or curse—whichever you prefer.

Of course, a lot of worrying is useless; it turns out later on that it wasn't necessary at all. I don't know just what makes a person worry.

I have an idea that people with a highly developed conscience worry more than those who just don't give a darn.

However, that's just my idea. There is nothing scientific about it. Just a matter of observation.

If I see a fellow in the fifties or sixties looking as if he didn't have a care in the world, I wonder what is wrong with him.

There must be something wrong with him, I say to myself; something must be lacking.

And usually what's lacking is a CONSCIENCE.

Now about this longevity thing. I don't think that anybody can give anybody else any advice.

One fellow lives long, and doesn't smoke or drink. The next older drinks like a fish and smokes like a chimney.

I think the whole secret about living long is not to die too soon.

"Darling, if you insist on coming to the store to argue with me, I'm going to ask for a transfer to the piano department!"

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Blow of Blows

The old landmarks, guideposts, traditions, former ways of life, and the established institutions continue to fall. If it isn't one thing it's another. Now it is Adolphe Menjou's mustache. It has disappeared, and the world as we knew it has taken another blow.

Despite all the changes, all the upsets, all the fade-outs we had felt that the Menjou mustache was safe, a bulwark in the fight for the things of yesteryear. They could kill honor in great governments, efface all concepts of international law, destroy world amity and hack at the foundations of freedom, but Adolphe's mustache stood firm and indestructible. The old China could fall, British colonial rule topple, the economy of countless nations collapse . . . but every dawn saw the Menjou upper lip intact, unadulterated strong, confident and reassuring.

Poland, Czechoslovakia and other states could lose their liberties, Churchill could lose a premiership, Oklahoma could lose a booking, MacArthur could lose his rule in Japan, the Yanks could even lose a world series, but the Menjou mustache remained unthreatened and intact. Boy and man, it had been with Adolphe, forty years, an American institution. The children, pop, mom, grandpa, grandma and even great grandpa had been raised on it. It held a place on the screen with the Metro lion, the Pathe rooster, the haystack and the sunset finale.

All these things might go, we thought, as the white Russian wolf-hound, the knitting scene and the silent drama had perished. . . . but the Menjou face would weather every threat, survive every attack and stand firm against fire, storm or revolution. But, lo, this, too, has passed away.

The sad thought is that it took no terrific battle, no hand-to-hand trench fighting, no long, bitter struggle to accomplish the deed. Adolphe objected a little and put up some resistance, but it was only token resistance. All that was finally required to get his consent to the deed was $10,000! For ten grand, the great man surrendered and shaved off the most famous mustache in movie history, the hirsute adornment that had been linked with the moving pictures down through the years.

Just for a pittance he sold us. Just for some silver and gold. Jauntily taking the action. Joining the clean-shaven fold.

Just for the ten grand he left us. Giving the word "Let 'er rip!"—Changing the time-honored features.

Leaving a SMOOTH UPPER LIP! Adolphe, how could you! Ain't nuthin' sacred no more? Ain't nuthin' inviolate?

Shirley Fellencer Fall Bride Of Sgt. Danna Joyce

Miss Shirley Lorraine Fellencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barnett Fellencer, Cherry Valley, Stroudsburg RD 1, became the early fall bride of Sgt. Danna Joyce (USMC), son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joyce, of Economy, Ind., Saturday afternoon in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the Cherry Valley Methodist church at 3 o'clock by Rev. C. Clyde Levergood, pastor. The church was elaborately decorated with white chrysanthemums in altar vases with a background of rhododendron; also white mums and white gladioli. There were brass candle holders with white candles on the altar tables and white ribbons at the end of the pews and white aisle runner.

Edwin C. Fellencer, uncle of the bride, was organist and furnished suitable wedding music, including Lohengren and Mendelssohn wedding marches. Mrs. Bert George, of East Stroudsburg, was soloist. She sang "At Dawn" by Cadman; "Because," by d'Hardelot; "O Perfect Love," by Barnby.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white imported Chantilly lace with decollete neckline, bustle in back, long sleeves ending in points over the hands, skirt ending in scallops, elbow length veil held in place by orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and small white mums.

Miss Emma Jean Fellencer was her sister, maid-of-honor. She also wore a ballerina length gown, toast color, nylon net cape sleeves with long (elbow) mitts and crownless bonnet hat to match. She carried a bouquet of small yellow and bronze mums.

T/Sgt. Curtis Blank (USMC), of Harrisburg, now stationed in Philadelphia, was best man. The ushers were Robert Hester, Bangor RD 2, and Chester Anthony, of Crystal St., East Stroudsburg, cousins of the bride.

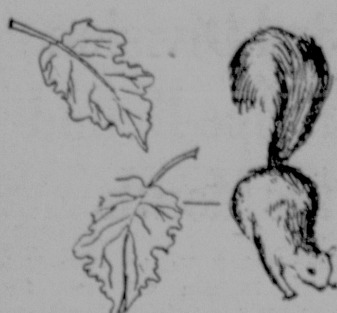

The bride's mother wore a purple crepe dress with black velvet accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Taylor, of Kingsport, Tenn., were in attendance. Mrs. Taylor wearing a black wool suit with black accessories and also a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for approximately 150 guests among them the groom's sister, Miss Nannie Joyce, of Economy, Ind. The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake surrounded by miniature bride and groom figurines surrounded by floral decorations with three white candles on each side of the cake. The home was decorated with garden flowers.

The newly wedded couple left on a honeymoon tour of the mid-western states. The bride selected for traveling a black faille suit with velvet collar and cuffs, black velvet accessories and corsage of white roses. They will reside at 214 S. 49th St., Philadelphia.

The bride is a graduate of Stroudsburg High school in the class of 1948 and from the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing this month. The bridegroom, a graduate of the Williamsburg High school, is serving with the United States Marine Corps.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

All right, now I'll believe that summer is really over now that the dahlias have turned black on the stem—now that the flies are on the doors and windows are all closed.

There's something about the first furnace fire, combined with a rainy Sunday and early dusk, that certainly plays havoc with the conversation.

Under those conditions a family living room takes on all the aspects of a catastrophe, as if all the inhabitants had suddenly fallen under a magic spell, such as struck the palace of the Sleeping Beauty.

There they are in a weird and wonderful attitude sleeping peacefully away—some with the paper draped like a shroud, some with head bent over belated homework—even the dogs are sleeping.

You could do a much better job of description, however, if you didn't fall under the spell so soon. Ho—hum.

The next meeting will be held in connection with the banquet.

Booster Of Po. Grange Is Success

Tannersville — The Booster Night celebration which featured the meeting of Pocono Grange, No. 1415, this place, Friday night last, attracted a fine turnout. The program presented was much enjoyed.

The officers of the grange in their prepared talks told of the many accomplishments of the organization and also gave suggestions for future activities intended to be of value to the entire community. Mrs. Irene Hartman, the lecturer, was in charge of the program and presented those taking part in the same.

Rev. Ralph H. Feltham, well known to the members, pleased with his talk. Frank Mooney in his report showed unusual accomplishments for the comparatively small organization.

The Tannersville Male quartet, Walter Sebring, E. Werkheiser, James Werkheiser and Monroe Granacher, delighted with their five numbers with Edward Gerhardt, accompanist. Mr. Sebring also gave a brief address.

Andrew Teachman, of Raymondskill, Pomona master, was congratulatory in his remarks. Representatives of the granges located at Hamilton, Greeley, and Cherry Valley also gave talks.

The Grange hall was attractively decorated with large vases of fall flowers and at the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the ladies of the host grange.

HEAVEN

Ref. You!

A good many people feel that heaven is a far, faraway place; only for a very few of the saintly and the pious. Have you ever felt that way? That somehow, it just isn't the place for you?

Actually the absolute opposite is true: heaven is a very real and tangible place, and it is yours for the asking! But this does not in any way mitigate another important truth: no matter how "saintly" you apparently may become, you can never reach heaven by your own goodness!

This is due to the simple fact that there is a law which you and everyone else in this world have broken: the Ten Commandments, given by God Himself (Exodus 20:3-17) are His law of conduct for this world. Anything we have done that is out of harmony with this law of God is sin and, obviously, no "sinner" can ever enter God's paradise.

"Sin," the Bible says, "is the transgression of the law." I John 3:4. We are also told that "all have sinned." Romans 3:23. So, since the "wages of sin," is eternal death, the situation doesn't look too good for any of us, does it?

But in this very same statement of warning we are given a thrilling promise: "The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Romans 6:23. This is exactly what the gospel story is all about! 1. God has a standard of conduct for us which cannot be annulled. 2. The penalty of that law is eternal death. 3. We have all broken the law and thus must pay the penalty or find Someone who will save us from it. Thus, 4. the gospel, the "good news" of salvation, can be reduced to one simple statement: "Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law!" Galatians 3:13.

Warning and Promise!

How has He done this? By abolishing the law? No, for then there would be nothing to transgress, and thus no sin from which we need to be saved! He has redeemed us by taking the "curse" of that law, death, upon Himself. He gave His life for ours, and thus we are saved, by His grace, from the penalty of a broken law.

Some believe that because faith in Christ saves us from the penalty of the law, faith alone annuls the law itself!

But saint and sinner are both bound by the same law. The sinner is a sinner because he breaks that law. The grace of Christ can compensate for his transgression, but the law is still there. If he breaks it again, he is a condemned sinner again. We do not do away with the law of the land because it requires the grace of the governor himself to annul the penalty.

The very fact that we need the saving grace of Jesus proves more than anything else that there is a law against which we have transgressed, and which cannot be done away. That is why Paul said: "Do we then make void the law through faith? God forbid: yea, we establish the law." Romans 3:31.

What Is a Sinner?

These Commandments will be cherished by those who, through faith in Jesus, are counted worthy to "enter in through the gates" into eternity. Revelation 22:14.

Heaven is not illusory and unattainable. It is the most real of all realities and may be won by "whosoever will." But it may be well to study those Commandments more frequently. Exodus 20:3-17. See also James 2:10-12. (Next: How To Live Forever.)

Otto Meyer, Fort Monmouth Pigeon Breeding and Training Center chief, poses with a couple of his prize Signal Corps messenger carriers.

Army Pigeons Still Earning Their Keep In Signal Corps

By Dick LaCoste
(Central Press Correspondent)

Fort Monmouth, N. J.—Here is the Army's only pigeon breeding and training center, there lives a glamorous group of pensioned pigeons. They live in semi-retirement. What's more, like all old soldiers, they like their luxurious and exclusive home.

Also, like old soldiers, maybe they like to swap war yarns. Take GI Joe for instance. If you understood pigeon English, you might hear Joe telling the birds how once during World War II, he saved the lives of 1,000 American soldiers.

Here's the story: As in all armies, even the generals sometimes don't know just how good their men are. In this instance, a famous general's men advanced far faster than scheduled. One thousand of them slashed through the enemy's defenses to occupy a town in no time flat.

Meanwhile, Allied bombers had the town zeroed in for annihilation that night. No messages could get through. Radio and radar this time were as useless as voice sound.

The general racked his brain. Being an oldtimer who had been around long before radio and radar, he knew about pigeons. So he called for one—a patriotic pigeon who, like Garcia, would get the message through at all costs.

"GI Joe" was chosen to carry the message across the channel to England. Strapped to his back was a small cartridge containing a message to the bomber skipper to cancel the scheduled raid on the German town.

To make a long story short, Joe arrived in England just as the bombers were taking off. Result: at least 1,000 American and Allied lives saved.

Another World War II hero living at the Center is Snooky. This bird holds the distinction of being the first messenger—winged or otherwise—to carry a tactical message on enemy gun emplacements after the invasion of France. Snooky flew 90 miles in less than 1½ hours to deliver the message thus carving his niche in the pigeon hall of fame by that deed of derring-do.

Pigeons pass? Not so you'd notice it! Through one of the oldest means of communications, carrier pigeons are a vital and necessary modern means of military communications.

Because of his inherent homing instincts, the pigeon succeeds when all other means fail.

At the Fort Monmouth training center, birds of the finest strain are trained with care and patience by the Army's Signal Corps pigeon experts. There the pigeon's natural homing instincts are perfected.

These Signal Corps birds, carrying messages in capsules harnessed to their backs, knife through the atmosphere at speeds as high as a mile a minute. Neither storms nor winds daunt them. Often they cover as many as 700 miles a day, a distance they can bridge in approximately 15 hours.

Otto Meyer, the Center's chief, is acclaimed by pigeon fanciers as one of the country's foremost carrier pigeon authorities.

The record military flight made by one of Meyer's birds took place in 1939 when a pigeon flew with a message from Maine to Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

Distance? Exactly 2,300 miles.

Dr. Leversia Powers, Chief of Elementary Education, Harrisburg, who was a speaker at the recent Monroe County Teachers Institute, was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bennet Strait that evening.

Lt. Sylvia Hauser, USNR, stationed at Brooklyn, N. Y., was a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hauser, for a few days before returning to duty aboard ship. Before coming to her home, she entertained her parents and Mrs. William Scott for dinner aboard ship, the General Alexander Patch.

The family night and anniversary supper of the Presbyterian Church of the Mountain was very well attended by members of the church. During the corporation meeting following the supper, suggestions were made and plans discussed for the procurement of the funds necessary to complete the projects to be carried out during the three years. It is the plans of the church members to have all work completed and paid for, if possible, when the church celebrates the 100th anniversary of its founding in 1954.

Legislature Expected To Vote Recess

Harrisburg, (AP)—A recess of the General Assembly until December 10 was in prospect last night after token "no business" sessions this week.

There were indications that the House Rules committee would reluctantly go along with the Senate today in approving the recess and put off a decision on the tax deadlock until the holidays.

Senate Republicans, split over the long disputed income tax, joined in supporting the recess idea last week after the latest administration effort collapsed to pass that levy.

The House Republican leadership, which passed the income tax and a second compromise program as a substitute for it, rejected the recess plan at first.

However, the Republican representatives at a caucus authorized its Rules committee, composed of top GOP leaders, to decide the question finally. Reports from the Republican House leadership were that they hoped the Senate would change its mind on the recess but that it would be approved, if the Senate insists.

Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, president pro tempore of the Senate, said in a weekend statement that lack of hotel accommodations during October and November was "the compelling reason" for the recess.

The recess also was necessary to permit further study of plans to re-appoint Pennsylvania's dis-

Senator Walker Submits Compromise Tax Plan To Eliminate Income Levy

Pittsburgh, (AP)—State Sen. John M. Walker (R-Pittsburgh) said yesterday he has offered the Senate Finance committee a compromise tax plan which he believes would eliminate need for a State income tax.

Walker said he submitted the plan to committee Friday and believes it would give the Commonwealth an estimated $169,000,000 in new estimates and savings. He said the plan calls for an increase of estimates from current and proposed levies and cuts in recommended appropriations.

Whisky Price Cut

New York, (AP)—Park & Tilford Distillers Corp. yesterday announced a 16 per cent reduction in its price of Park & Tilford bottled-in-bond bourbon effective immediately.

introduced in the Legislature. The tracts in Congress before a bill is State's district were reduced from 33 to 30 by the 1950 census. Unless the State is reapportioned for the 1952 elections the entire delegation will be elected on a statewide basis.

Taylor opposed letting the re-apportionment problem go over until a special session next year.

But Rep. H. G. Andrews, Democratic House leader said in another weekend statement a special session in January is "still the shortest way out of the wilderness in which the administration finds itself."

Andrews renewed a suggestion, made earlier in the session, that the legislature finance the first fiscal year of the biennium, ending May 31, 1952, and come back for a special session in January.

"Plotting in behalf of the flat income tax should cease to the end that the issue be carried to the people in the fall of 1952," Andrews said.

Governor Fins estimated that the income tax plan based on a one-half of one per cent levy would bring in $119,000,000.

Walker, home on a weekend visit, said:

"I am firmly convinced that the people of Pennsylvania would feel happier about any and all tax discussions if a sincere effort were made to cut down some of the recommended appropriations."

The program submitted to committee, Walker said, is a composite of ideas advanced by 10 Republican Senators who have held out against the income tax plan.

Included in Walker's program, he said is a $35,000,000 cut from the Governor's budget, including $16,000,000 from civilian defense and $9,000,000 more from public assistance funds.

Other points recommended by Walker are:

Accelerated collections of corporate net income taxes.

Compel Cabinet members to take an over-all 10 per cent cut in budget requests for an $8,000,000 savings.

43rd Division Europe-Bound This Month

Camp Pickett, Va., (AP)—The 43rd Infantry Division will sail for Europe early in October, the Army announced yesterday.

The 43rd, which has been stationed at Camp Pickett, will be the first National Guard division sent to the European command to join the Atlantic pact forces of General Eisenhower.

Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, division commander, said the 43rd would leave from the Hampton Roads port of embarkation. The exact sailing date was not revealed.

The 43rd, originally from Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont, now contains men from every state in the Union except two. Large numbers are from New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and the Carolinas.

The division was reactivated on Sept. 5, 1950, and alerted for European duty several weeks ago.

Rehabilitated Workers Prove Successful In Various Jobs

Rehabilitated workers are proving successful in all types of jobs because they are especially prepared and placed, the State Bureau of Rehabilitation reported yesterday in urging employers to test for themselves the ability and performance of Commonwealth residents with physical limitations.

Employers were urged to try handicapped workers by Mark W. Walter, bureau director, and Tom E. Williams, manager of the bureau's Wilkes-Barre district, in a special appeal for National Employment the Physically Handicapped week which is being observed here and elsewhere October 7-13.

NEPH week is observed annually throughout the nation in an effort to inform employers of the capabilities of handicapped workers. Participating in the observance in addition to the Bureau of Rehabilitation, are veterans' organizations, the Pennsylvania State Employment service, Crippled Children societies, medical societies, unions, other interested groups and in many instances representatives of employers.

"The handicapped only want an opportunity to compete on equal terms with the able-bodied for vacancies in industrial plants, stores, and offices," said Williams. "In no instance do they ask for special privileges or concessions. They only want employers to consider their capabilities."

King George Continues To Improve

London (AP)—Palace doctors reported yesterday that King George, who underwent a serious lung operation a week ago, continues to improve.

The medical bulletin said: "The King's progress continues." It was the briefest of 11 bulletins issued since the King lost all or part of a lung last Sunday.

A crowd of around 2,000 persons pressed against the high fences in front of Buckingham palace when the bulletin was posted just before noon.

Penn State Center Plans Night Classes

It was announced yesterday by William P. Taylor, district representative of the Penn State Center in Allentown, that night classes will open again this fall in East Stroudsburg to give adults a chance to further their education in business, engineering, and science.

Classes will be offered in elementary accounting and advanced accounting, engineering drafting, advanced engineering drafting, English in business practice, industrial organization and management, shop foreman, tool design, algebra, trigonometry, public speaking, elementary typing and advanced typing.

Classes in other subjects will also be offered if there is sufficient demand.

Registration will be held October 10, 11 and 12 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the East Stroudsburg High school. Classes begin October 15 and will meet Monday and Wednesday nights for a period of 16 weeks.

Usually, courses are complete in themselves and, unless specifically designated, are not for college credit toward a degree.

Faculty for classes is principally local residents, approved as part-time instructors by Penn State. They are graduate engineers, ed-

Sunday School Contributes $973.92 To Leper Day Fund

The Sunday school of the First Baptist church, East Stroudsburg, observed its annual Leper day yesterday. The offerings amounted to $973.92, which is an increase of $221.09 over last year's record gifts.

The leper work is one of the missionary projects of the Sunday school. Danger and unneeded expense building and maintenance of the Anna M. Focke Memorial at Katwa, Belgium, Congo.

Children of the Junior department presented a play written by Miss Jean Lowry and directed by Mrs. Grant Keiper. It depicted a scene in the playground of the leper colony in Africa. The children discussed their friends in America who helped build and staff the leper colony with doctors and nurses. During their discussion a visitor from America arrived and from there on the play developed the story of the founding of the Anna M. Focke Memorial and of its challenge to the people of the Baptist church in East Stroudsburg.

The memorial has proven a real asset in aiding the untainted children of leprosy parents.

The following children were included in the play: Horace Cole, Robert Eshbach, Arthur Counterman, Richard Savage, Ruthanne and Joyce West, Lois, Carolyn, and Mary Alice Counterman, Velma Lesoine, Sandra MacLeod and Jean Keiper.

The school is considering a $1,000 goal for this project next year.

When used to cover a casket, the flag should be placed so that the union is at the head and over the left shoulder.

Tuition charge for all courses is $7.50 per terminal unit (16 class hours.) Textbooks and supplies are extra.

Notre Dame Presents New Powerhouse

By Will Grimsley
New York, (AP)—Favorites for national honors knock heads in two big games this weekend, but the college world still will be wondering how potent is this new Notre Dame juggernaut at South Bend.

Next Saturday's piece de resistance pits Michigan State and Ohio State in Columbus, Ohio, in a game matching the number two and number three teams in the Associated Press' pre-season poll.

Of only little less importance will be the game at College Station, Tex., between Oklahoma's defending national champions and Texas A. and M., the terror of the southwest.

Smashing Win
Oklahoma was rated fourth and the Texas Aggies sixth in the advance rating of college football strength.

Michigan State scored a smashing 25-0 victory over Michigan's defending Western Conference champions Saturday while Ohio State was squeaking out a 7-0 victory over Southern Methodist.

Oklahoma's Sooners crushed William and Mary, 49-7. The Texas Aggies won their second game by beating Texas Tech, 20-7.

The fighting Irish of Notre Dame weren't given a place in the pre-season top ten. Picked on a vote of sports editors, but that situation should be remedied forthwith if the South Benders keep up as they've started.

Notre Dame crushed veteran Indiana, 48-6, in their season opener and looked like a team that may be ready to reclaim the dominant position it held until last season's debacle.

The Irish had gone 39 games without a defeat before Purdue stunned them with a 23-14 setback last October 7. They never fully recovered losing three additional games and tying one of a nine-game scheduled before the card ran out.

So far in the young season, only Michigan State and California have looked as imposing as Notre Dame.

Michigan State unleashed a pulverizing offense to trounce Michigan before 97,239 at Ann Arbor and will be favored over the Buckeyes.

California also turned loose tremendous power to beat a good Pennsylvania team at Philadelphia, 35-0. The Bears, who have 40 victories, one tie and one defeat in regular season play under Coach "Pappy" Waldorf, are host Saturday to Minnesota.

Tennessee, picked as the number one team in the country, opened with a 14-0 triumph over Mississippi State, which handed the Vols their only setback last season.

Major Tussle
The Vols play Duke, 19-14 victories over Pittsburgh and unbeaten in two games, in the south's big game Saturday at Knoxville.

The only major winning streak you have to watch now is that of Princeton, with 14 in a row. The men of Old Nassau, unbeaten last year, rolled over New York University, 54-20.

Princeton and Cornell, 21-14 victory over Syracuse, look like the standouts in the east with Army and Navy not stacking up as real threats. Villanova may prove an independent standout.

Army, making its first appearance since the exam-cribbing scandal, lost to Villanova, 21-7, and Navy just managed a 7-7 tie with Yale.

back last October 7. They never fully recovered losing three additional games and tying one of a nine-game scheduled before the card ran out.

Michigan State unleashed a pulverizing offense to trounce Michigan before 97,239 at Ann Arbor and will be favored over the Buckeyes.

California also turned loose tremendous power to beat a good Pennsylvania team at Philadelphia, 35-0. The Bears, who have 40 victories, one tie and one defeat in regular season play under Coach "Pappy" Waldorf, are host Saturday to Minnesota.

Tennessee, picked as the number one team in the country, opened with a 14-0 triumph over Mississippi State, which handed

Villanova Gains Rating As Top Team In Pennsylvania

Philadelphia (AP)—The Pennsylvania college football wars got underway in earnest last weekend and Villanova's Wildcats cannonaded into national prominence and number one state rating with a 21-7 triumph over Army.

The Wildcats were expected to win Saturday, but not in so convincing fashion over the Cadets' shattered forces. It was the first time Army lost an opening game since 1893. Villanova hadn't beaten Army since 1908.

All in all, 45 Keystone State college elevens were in action—22 registering victories. Thirteen of the 32 games involved only Pennsylvania teams.

The Red and Blue of Pennsylvania, expected to be one of the east's top teams, was overwhelmed by a mighty California Bears of the Pacific Coast Conference 35-0. A crowd of 60,000 watched the westerners resort to the air for four touchdowns. Penn just wasn't in it as it lost its opening game for the first time since 1942.

Close Battle
The Duke Blue Devils invaded the lair of the Pittsburgh Panther and were clamped unmercifully before two gentils by the name of Smith slashed through spotty Pitt defenses and paved the way for a 19-14 Duke win.

Pitt played sparkling offensive football and very nearly registered an upset over the favored Duke eleven. But Charley Smith and James Smith, not related, tore the Pitt line to shreds to score the deciding TD.

Temple's Owls, losers a week ago to a strong Syracuse eleven, scored an uphill 20-14 victory over Brown. Temple was favored to win but it wasn't until the final two minutes that fullback Paul Maquie bullied over center for the payoff score.

Penn State, another top power in the east, had to come from behind three times before finally clinching victory—40-34—over Boston University. Both teams were futile in defense as one drive after another sped toward the opposing goal lines.

Lehigh University, with Joe Moyer making big running gains, joined Williams College 20-6.

Lead Conference

Seranton, Pa. (AP)—Schuylkill Haven and Wilkes-Barre GAR lead the two divisions of the eastern Pennsylvania inter-scholastic football conference in ratings released last night by secretary Robert E. Dawson.

Averages To Count

New York (AP)—Batting, fielding and pitching figures of the best-of-three National league title play-off between Brooklyn and New York will count in the season's averages.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1951
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Splendid planetary indications for most enterprises, particularly for business with wide distribution. Freshly favored as matters of home, family, loved ones, be careful with them.
April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—While aspects are most friendly, you will have to hold self in check, just you go out on limb too far. Be solid in thought like you gifted folks can be, and you can achieve much.
May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Day can be very profitable with business, advancement, BUT extra care must be exercised making changes in plans without sufficient study, knowledge. Less haste.
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Bond backwards to the pleasant, cooperative and you will receive treatment in kind, and make desired gains. Personal attitude will help bring about harmony, happiness.
July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Getting along smoothly with those working with you will bring fresh advantages, better living. Those who are congenial only when it suits purpose or advancement gain little. Smile and win.
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Get early start this stimulating day and you will finish on top, and have time for relaxation. Generally progressive day with extra care stressed in written matter, close all contracts.
September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—No time to make sudden or improving changes in position or long-term plans. Be steady and things will be beneficial. Romance, marriage, social and personal health should be good.
October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Generous outlook for your earnestness and hard work.
November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius)—No really contentious outlook, make a little deal in spots but should not hinder you getting ahead on schedule. However, don't be too self-assured, and be patient with those under you.
December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn)—Disregard slight obstacles, be clear to better than normal for gains. Watch details, heed sound advice, be tactful in business and personal talks.
January 24 to February 23 (Aquarius)—Be open to advice, sound suggestions. Benefits from daily routine and interests of general character rather than in special matters, things may have to try harder and be more satisfied with moderate gains. Industry, trades, selling, manufacturing, business, should avoid having to set ideas on diskettes. Show violent exercise. Rounder of 51 has new, great advantages. Birthday John P. G. Mollenberg, American Revolution, War General, James Lawrence, Naval.

DICK TRACY

Fantastic Finish Ties Giants For Lead

Walker Cooper, former Giant and a power hitter, came to the plate swinging three bats. Jansen made the big catcher tap a roller to the left of the mound. Third baseman Bobby Thomson, in his overeagerness, bobbled the ball, then lost it completely. Now there were runners on first and second, with Willard Marshall, another former Giant slugger, waiting to bat.

The 31-year-old pitcher, showing no disappointment over the two fielding lapses, fired one pitch to Marshall, who lofted an easy fly to Monte Irvin in shallow left field.

It took the Giants about five seconds to realize the game was over—their surge a success. Then, in a spontaneous outburst, every one of them rushed in from the field and out of the dugout to mob Jansen.

Trooping off the field like conquering heroes, struggling through a mass of fans, mostly Bostonians who had cheered every Brave out and every Giant hit, the Giants carried their jubilation right into the clubhouse.

Biggest Thrill
"This is the biggest thrill I ever got in my life," shouted Manager Leo Durocher. "What a team. The greatest, absolutely the greatest I ever managed. Better than my championship Brooklyn team of 1941."

Durocher's elation knew no bounds. "I can't tell you how happy I am for myself and the boys. And that Jansen, what a pitcher! I knew he could do it. He had it all the way."

"And that Irvin. What a hit he came through with! What a beauty! He's been giving us the best one all year."

Asked how he felt when Marshall raised that fly for the final out, Durocher said:

"I had my heart in my mouth. I could hear myself yelling 'catch it, somebody. Anybody. But catch it!'"

Jansen sat in front of his locker receiving the noisy congratulations of his mates. He held the ball aloft. It had been given to him by Irvin.

"Thanks, boys, thanks," was all he could say, as he grinned happily.

Jansen, flashing his usual brilliant control along with a snapping curve ball, appeared faster than usual in this hazy, chilly day, darkened by heavy, overhanging clouds. It became so dark that the lights had to be turned on when the Giants came to bat in the sixth inning.

Jansen fanned six, allowed five hits, none in between the first and ninth. This vital victory gave him a record of 22-11, the most victories he has registered since he joined the Giants in 1947. He won 21 and lost five that year. It was his seventh triumph without a defeat over the Braves. He opened the season by blanking the Braves here, 4-0, April 17.

Jim Wilson, who had whipped the Dodgers with a three-hitter last Tuesday, was the starter and loser. He hurled six innings, allowing all the Giants' runs and eight of their nine hits before departing for a futile pinchhitter. Max Surkont and Vern Bickford blanked the Giants with one hit in the final three innings.

Dark and Thomson paced the Giants attack, Dark banging out a double and three singles, and Thomson hammering a home run and single. Irvin, Mueller and Thomson drove in the runs.

Garver Wins Twenty Games For Browns

St. Louis (AP)—Ned Garver had more support than he needed yesterday as he set down the Chicago White Sox, 9-5, to become the first 20-game winner for the St. Louis Browns since 1938. Garver's success on the last day of the season also made him the first American League pitcher since 1924 to win 20 games with a last-place club.

Garver, who thus finishes the year with a 20-12 record, also performed well at the plate, knocking out his first home run of the season with one on in the fourth inning.

Loser
Randy Gumpert was the losing pitcher for a 9-9 season's record. Some 14,771 fans turned out for the season finale, with all of the proceeds going to the St. Louis Community Chest. An exhibition basketball game between the Harlem Globetrotters and Browns players opened the afternoon show. Chicago .002 200 010—5 11 3

Tigers Nip Indians, 2-1

Cleveland (AP)—Virgil Trucks pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 2-1 win over the Cleveland Indians yesterday. It was his thirteenth victory of the season and the sixth in a row.

Besides limiting the second place Tribe to five hits, Trucks batted in both of the Bengal runs with a bases-loaded single in the seventh.

Misses Shutout
He had a shutout until the ninth when Larry Doby singled, got to third on a one-base blow by Luke Easter and scored as Harry Simpson grounded out.

Robinson's Homer Wins For Dodgers

Robinson had hurt his right shoulder in the thirteenth when he made a diving catch of a low liner by Eddie Waitkus to end the inning after the Phillies had filled the bases. He had to take time out to get his breath and get the shoulder working again, but there was no sign of an injury when he took the field again to continue his fine fielding and to wallop his first homer in 15 days.

Sharing the credit for the comeback with Robinson was big Don Newcombe who came back in a relief role after pitching a complete game last night and shut out the Phillies with only one hit for 5 2/3 innings.

Newcombe tired in the 13th and gave way to Clarence "Bud" Podbielan after he had passed two batters. It was Podbielan who choked off that danger and set down the Phillies in the home half of the 14th to get credit for the victory.

Preacher Roe started on the mound from Brooklyn, but before the 4 1/2 hour game ended, Manager Drennon had used up virtually all his pitching staff.

Roe, boasting a 22-3 record for the season, the best in the league, couldn't do a thing with the Phils yesterday. Tommy Brown, a refugee from the Brooklyn bench, opened the Phillies half of the second with a home run, and before the inning was over, Roe was out of there and the Phillies had four runs.

Eighteen Left
Branca, Clyde King, Clem Labine, and Carl Erskine all took turns on the mound before Newcombe came back to check the Phillies. The Phils made 15 hits and had 18 men left on bases.

Philadelphia Manager Eddie Sawyer did almost as much franc-tic juggling of his lineup as the Phils, champions last year, went all out to make up for their second-division finish this season. He started a team composed almost entirely of right-handed hitters against southpaw Roe and used three pitchers—"Bubba" Church, Karl Drews and Roberts.

Sawyer's tactics almost worked. Following Brown's home run, the Phils put together two doubles, a single, and a walk off Roe for three more tallies. They got to Branca for two more runs on as many hits in the third. And after the Dodgers had cut their lead to one run with a three-run outburst in the fifth, the Phils came back with two more off King in the same inning.

That rally seemed to mark the end of the Dodgers hopes. Their best effort had fallen short; they were three runs behind and the results of the Giants' game had just been posted on the scoreboard.

But the Brooks were hitting and they weren't ready to roll over and call it quits.

With one out in the eighth, muscled-man Gil Hodges beat out a bouncer to short and Billy Cox moved him to third with a single. Al Walker batted for Erskine and drove a long double between center and right field to score them both.

Roberts relieved Drews at this stage and Don Thompson ran for Walker. Carl Furillo singled sharply to left, sending Thompson home with the tying run. But the rally ended when "Pee Wee" Reese flied to Del Ennis in deep left and Furillo, who had passed second base, was doubled before he could return to first.

Kiner's Blow Decides Battle

Pittsburgh (AP)—Ralph Kiner hit a grand slam home run yesterday to break a 4-4 tie with the Cincinnati Reds and give the Pittsburgh Pirate a 8-4 victory in the season's closing game. It was Kiner's forty-second homer. The mighty game winning clout came in the eleventh inning after the Reds had tied up the contest in the eighth inning.

Kiner's mark of 11 grand slam home runs puts him only one under the National League record of 12. That mark was written into the books by Rogers Hornsby. Cincinnati 012 000 010 00—4 7 1
Pittsburgh 000 010 300 04—8 12 0

A's Split With Senators

Washington (AP)—Allie Clark blasted a home run, triple and double to lead the Philadelphia Athletics to a 4-3 victory over Washington in the second game of a doubleheader yesterday after the Senators won the first game, 4 to 2.

Clark's seventh inning homer with none aboard broke a 3-3 tie and presented Bob Hooper his twelfth victory. Clark and Pete Suder, who had two doubles and a single, paced a ten-hit attack on Joe Haines.

First Game

Cards Divide With Cubs

Chicago (AP)—Gerry Staley blanked the Chicago Cubs with four singles to enable the St. Louis Cardinals to end the season with a 3 to 0 victory in the nightcap after the Cubs had rallied to take the opener 7 to 6 yesterday.

The second game was halted at the end of six innings because of darkness.

Yankees Blank Red Sox, 3-0

New York (AP)—Frank Shea, making his first start since late June, pitched the pennant winning New York Yankees to a 3-0 nine-inning victory over the Boston Red Sox yesterday. The victory enabled the Yanks to finish the season with a 98-56 record.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to reveal your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and choose every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Boy Thrown Out Of Car In Collision

Craig Meadows—Jeff Sitkin, 7, was thrown out of his father's auto in a two-car collision here at 12:55 p.m. yesterday.

The car, with Joseph Sitkin, 46, New York City, at the wheel, continued off the highway after the boy fell out and went off a 15-foot embankment.

Mrs. Sitkin, 41, suffered head and back injuries. The boy, who landed on the pavement according to his parents' story, escaped with a head bruise.

He and his mother were released after treatment at the office of Dr. George Heide, Bushkill.

The other driver was Dr. Fred Stern, 49, also of New York City, who was headed east. He told Pfc. James Reilly he had slowed to make a left turn near the Regina hotel on Route 209.

Sitkin told police he intended to pass Stern on the left side of the highway when the other car made the turn. The two vehicles clashed fenders, however, and the Sitkin car went off the road.

Damage to Sitkin's car was $250, and to Stern's, $200 to the fender, headlight and wheel. There were no arrests.

Mrs. Marshall Keiper
Ph. Bushkill 6

The Bushkill Ladies Aid of the Dutch Reformed church will hold its first fall meeting Wednesday, October 3, at the fire house. It will be a missionary meeting in charge of Miss Helen Cook.

Mrs. Lester Litts was hostess at a plastic demonstration Wednesday evening. The game prize was won by Mrs. Wayne Metzgar. Present were: Mrs. William Laubner, Mrs. Horton Stettler, Mrs. Marshall Keiper, Mrs. Frank Messerle, Mrs. Ralph Stettler, Mrs. Turrell Keller, Mrs. Wayne Metzgar, Miss Delores Keller, Mrs. Lester Katz and the hostess Mrs. Lester Litts.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Messerle have had television installed in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Horton Stettler motored to Columbia, N. J., where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Courtwright.

John Cook was busy Wednesday evening surveying of several building lots adjoining the William Laubner's. Mr. Cook who is remarkably active for his age, of 96 years was driving his own car.

Mrs. Harold Reidmiller is spending a week in Phillipsburg, N. J., with her daughter, Mrs. William Henderson.

Edward Westbrook, At 75, Finds Plenty Of Thrills During Three-Year Stay In Alaska

Three years ago at the age of 72, Edward K. Westbrook, of Stroudsburg, left for Fairbanks, Alaska, to take a job with the Wien Alaska Air Lines and since then has packed almost as many thrills in three years as he had in those first 72.

Mr. Westbrook, who celebrated his 75th birthday on August 14 last, is up to 180 pounds, hale and hearty. Recently, he took a vacation hunting trip which added to his thrill experiences.

Flying on Wien planes, he traveled nearly to the North Pole.

Heading first for Nome, he was forced back when radio warned high winds would prevent a landing there. A freak break in weather permitted conclusion of the trip and for eight days he and his guides were storm-bound.

Pulling out of Nome in a smaller plane, Westbrook traveled to Katzebue, some 360 miles farther north, only to be stormbound again with 86-mile-an-hour winds. Temperatures ranged to 40 below and snow piled in 30-foot drifts.

Westbrook moved out on bay ice after the storm broke. Sudden tidal movements caused breaks in ice and snow. He fell and suffered a dislocated knee. His calls for help toward the Wien hotel 200 yards away were not heard because of high winds.

Two young Eskimos rescued him. He recovered after ten days of treatment at the hotel. He made a sight-seeing trip to Point Barrow before returning to Fairbanks.

A letter just received by his daughter, Mrs. John M. Edwards, 113 Hardwick St., Belvidere, N. J., discloses Mr. Westbrook is off again to hunt spotted seal.

His aim this time is to get skins for coats and parkas for members of his family here. Recently, he sent Arctic clothing to a granddaughter, Linda Fetherman, daughter of Alvin J. Fetherman, East Stroudsburg, RD3. Linda is three and now has a parka trimmed in black fox and a set of fur leggings.

Mrs. Frank Sheble and her daughter, Adelaide Sheble, drove to Philadelphia on Wednesday to attend the opening performance of the Theatre Guild. Mrs. Sheble, Miss Sheble and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Stamm, entertained at a large cocktail party at her home on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bennett moved on Friday from their former residence in Bushkill, Pa. to the cottage on the Alexander Coles property.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenox Reid and their children, Joey and Priscilla, moved on Saturday to their new home in Chatham, N. J.

Wayne Vetterlein arrived on Saturday from Boston, Mass. to spend the night with his mother, Mrs. Alexander Coles, and Mr. Coles.
